RETIREMENT MEN'S SOCIAL CLUB will present their Second Annual Veteran's Day Dance, Saturday, November 10, from 8 p.m. until 1 a.m. at the Exhibition Hall, Monterey Fairgrounds. Donation is $3 advance and $4 at the door. There will be free drawings of cash door prizes every hour starting at 9 p.m. and ending at 12 midnight. You must be present to win. Music for this affair will be provided by the Mystic Knights of San Francisco. The purpose of this fund raising activity is to provide Thanksgiving Dinners for Senior Citizens and underprivileged families of the community. For additional information and tickets call 394-3582 or stop in at Steve's Bar-b-cue, 1677 Del Monte.

Thanksgiving dinner will be held at the Exhibit Hall of the Monterey Fairgrounds, according to Ms. Nancy McClintock, Community Thanksgiving Dinner Committee. Individuals and organizations are invited to join in the preparations for the dinner at the planning stages by calling to volunteer their services. The committee needs people to solicit, collect, and deliver dinner supplies, to decorate Exhibit Hall, to provide entertainment, to carve turkeys, to be on the welcoming committee, to distribute posters, and to help clean up after the affair. Persons wishing to volunteer are invited to call Mattye Blakeney, 394-5152; Anne Petersen, 375-1378, or Maizie Goodman, 624-5442. The next planning meeting will be held at the home of Corey Miller, 280 Grove Acres, Pacific Grove, Thursday, October 25 at 8 p.m. Volunteer Workers are welcome to attend.

REPRESENTATIVE JEROME WALDIE, D-Antioch, spoke by telephone from Washington, D.C., to a well-attended dinner at Carmel's Sunset Center, hosted by the Women's Democratic Club, Monterey County, Thursday evening, October 11. Slated to be guest of honor, Waldie was unable to attend because of his membership in the House Judiciary Committee, which met the same day to consider the resignation of former Vice President, Spiro T. Agnew. Waldie is a contender for Governor of California in 1974, and spoke of the problems of selecting a new vice president more than his own candidacy for governor. Following Waldie's talk, a drawing was held by members of the Citizens for Waldie Committee. Prizes included bicycles and equipment to help illustrate Waldie's concern for conservation.

AN EIGHT WEEK COURSE IN PREPARATION for Parenthood will begin Nov. 1 at Seaside High School the Monterey Adult School has announced. The class will meet each Thursday from 7 - 10 p.m. and be taught by Mrs. Anne Wright, R.M. Mrs. Wright stated expectant mothers in their last three months of pregnancy will benefit most from the course, but all prospective parents are welcome. Tuition is $1.50. For information call Mrs. Wright in Salinas at 455-1531.

A $25 INCREASE IN THE BASE PAY for members of the California Ecology Corps was announced by State Director of Conservation Ray B. Hunter. The raise will mean a net base pay of approximately $125 for corpsmen. The 500 young men in the state-sponsored program are also provided with housing, food, clothing and personal care items. Pay for assistant corps leaders was set at $150 and $175. In addition to the base pay, corpsmen earn $3.65 per hour overtime, when on fire duty. It was established in July 1, 1971 by Governor Reagan.

THE SEASIDE COUNTY SANITATION DISTRICT BOARD has announced that it is the property owners responsibility to maintain sewer laterals and house sewers. The sewer lateral extends from the sewer main in the street to the house. The District maintains and cleans sanitary sewer mains on a regular basis. Stoppages do occur in the mains, and are primarily caused by cooking fat, being poured down sink drains, as well as rags and toys flushed down toilets. Tree roots do cause stoppages in sewers and are usually the primary cause in sewer laterals. There have been requirements instituted by the District Board regarding the use of Carmel Traps in order to prevent sewerage backing up into houses. The trap may be identified by a dome shaped black cast iron cap approximately six inches in diameter, or an aluminum mushroom shaped cap protruding approximately one foot above the ground just outside the foundation of the house. Such traps are required by law where any plumbing fixture is less than two feet above the rim of the nearest manhole up hell from the point of connection of the building sewer to the street sewer. The Seaside County Sanitation District is on call at 394-8531 for additional information.

The Seaside POST News-Sentinel visited Kisling's Feed Store of Marina, where we met the owner, Mr. Earl Kisling. The store is located at 3142-C Crescent Avenue, Marina. Earl has all types of food for large and small animals, ranging from hay to dog food, and cordially invites all of his friends and acquaintances to come by and visit him at his new location. Earl is a musician of note and is currently appearing in Salinas.

Cultural Enrichment Plan For King Girls

School and Seaside recreation officials have put their heads together to try and save young ladies who may be potential drop-outs and "troublemakers."

The result is a cultural enrichment program they hope to start this month at King Junior High School. The program will involve such things as dance classes, speech and debate classes, crocheting, literary arts, tailoring and grooming and field trips to various cultural events.

King Principal Bill DeBerry explained that, traditionally, schools and other agencies have done a lot to keep boys out of trouble after school hours. There are football leagues, baseball leagues, basketball leagues and numerous other events staged especially for boys, he said.

"Girls are kind of left out asserted.

In setting up a cultural enrichment program for King Junior High girls, DeBerry said, "We contend that we could provide activities that would get these students out of the syndrome of the drop-out, potential drop-out, potential troublemaker and into a less self-defeating and more successful life style."

DeBerry and Mrs. Betty Mann, counseling aide, submitted their ideas to Dr. Henry Hutchins, assistant superintendent for instruction for the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District, and to Cleave Williams, director of the Seaside Recreation Department. Together, representatives of the two public agencies worked out the program.

"One of the most exciting parts of this program is the inter-agency cooperation that has resulted," DeBerry said.

Both the school district and the Seaside recreation department have budgeted funds for the program, which is also partially funded by state money obtained through Senate Bill 796. To qualify for the state money, the program was designed to involve a minimum of 20 girls whose presents are on welfare or being trained to work. But participants will not be limited to young ladies

Higher Damage Awards Due For Discrimination

An increase in the amount of damages that can be awarded under State law in cases where individuals are denied housing because of race, color, or creed, was announced this week by the California Fair Employment Practice Commission.

Pier A. Gherini, chairman of the FEPC which administers the State Fair Housing law, said that a recent Attorney General's Opinion now makes it possible for the FEPC to award up to $500 damages to each person in a family who is aggrieved by an act of such discrimination, rather than a total of $500 for the overall act.

"This means that an owner or landlord who was found by FEPC to be illegally discriminating against a family may have to pay damages to each member of that family, if each of them filed a complaint and proved damages," Gherini said. "Prior to the Attorney General's clarification of the law, only one damage award of up to $500 would be allowable for each overall transaction involving a family. This meant that only one member of the family could receive damages."

The Attorney General's ruling, which was requested by FEPC, refers to the California Health and Safety Code, Section 35738. The code sets forth the remedies FEPC can make available to individuals who are discriminated against: (1) the sale or rental of the housing accommodation in question; (2) the sale or rental of a similar accommodation; or (3) when neither of the first two remedies are available, the payment of damages of up to $500.

Requests Permits To Run Nuclear Units

Pacific Gas and Electric Company has announced it has applied to the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission for operating licenses for its two nuclear generating units under construction at Diablo Canyon in San Luis Obispo County.

The AEC has received and docketed the application and will establish a review schedule.

A final AEC decision on the environmental impact of Unit 2 is pending. The operating licenses are required in addition to the more than 30 permits and approvals already received or in process for construction of the plant Unit 1, now 73 percent complete, is scheduled for commercial operation in the fall of 1975. Unit 2, which is 33 percent complete, is scheduled for commercial operation in mid-1976.

When operating, the two units will add 2.2 million kilowatts to the PG&E system generating capacity. The company estimates that each year the units are in operation they will save more than 24 million barrels of oil, which would otherwise be required to generate the same amount of electricity.

State Warns: 'Beware Of Bargain'

California consumers should be aware of "too good to be true" offers.

The Department of Consumer Affairs has received numerous calls recently from California consumers who received letters stating they had been computer-selected as a "sweepstakes winner." For $15 the winner receives a vacation "certificate" for two to Las Vegas, Disney World, or Miami Beach, and a Treasure Chest of nationally advertised products, worth supposedly $250.

The company is under investigation by the Attorney General's Office of California. It is unlawful to notify a person, as part of an advertising scheme, that he has won a prize then require him to purchase any goods or services.

The United State Postal Service has filed a civil complaint against the company alleging the company was "engaged in conducting a scheme or device of obtaining property through the mails by reason of false representation in violation of the U.S. Code."

Investigation has found that many people were not receiving the advertised refund when they found the Treasure Chest unsatisfactory; that Walt Disney Production asked the company to cease making unauthorized references to Disney World, and implying in any way it was co-sponsor of the "Sweepstakes"; that a land development company (not disclosed in the announcement of "winning") sponsors the stay in resort hotels in order to create an opening to sell property; that, in fact, there were no sweepstakes to win, that names were on rented mailing lists and not computerized.

The Department of Consumer Affairs warns consumers to read the fine print. Transportation is NOT provided, and reservations are subject to "availability."

It's seldom you get something for nothing.

Jobs For Vets Drive Is On

"We Need Your Jobs" is the saying on an "Uncle Sam" poster being circulated by the Monterey Peninsula College Veterans Employment Service in an all-out effort to find jobs for Veterans attending school.

"Hire A Veteran Week," which continues through October 26 is the theme of the program being sponsored by the MPC Veterans Placement Office and in cooperation with the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce and KSBW television.

The goal is to make known the vast skills, maturity and experience of veterans attending school and who are looking for full or part time employment, according to Bill Borrow, MPC placement officer.

The college has nearly 1,600 veterans who are looking for jobs to help pay their way through school.

"Profiles of Veterans" seeking employment will be broadcast on KSBW, channel eight during morning and evening hours. For more information contact Borrow at 375-9821, ext. 302.

Health Department Is Watchdog

Government "surveillance" today often creates vivid mind pictures of illegal wiretaps, surreptitious tape recorders and monolithic data banks — enough to make any citizen wary.

But despite their wariness, many cautious consumers are demanding that government be their watchdog in areas where they cannot always look out for themselves.

In one of the most vital areas of public concern, health, the State of California has long had a comprehensive range of programs to monitor environmental health and safety and health care services.

The recently reorganized State Department of Health brought together the former Departments of Mental Hygiene, Public Health and Health Care Services. The consolidated department is responsible for all health protection and surveillance activities — ranging from monitoring water pollution and sanitation practices to detection of cancer quacks and investigation of fraudulent claims for care provided to the poor.

According to State Health Director J.M. Stubblebine, M.D., the melding of surveillance, investigation, environmental monitoring and quality review services in one department has increased efficiency and greatly improved access to information.

"For the first time," Dr. Stubblebine said, "the consumer or provider of health care services can go to one place to get information or to register a complaint." Local health officials and agencies also have a central state health administration to which they can relate, he said.

"And within the Department, staff for the programs can talk with each other without cutting through bureaucratic red tape on sharing of information," Stubblebine said. This enables the Department to avoid overlapping of assignments, he said.

Investigations of provider and welfare recipient abuses of the Medi-Cal fee-for-service and prepaid health programs, and frauds uncovered by the Food and Drug Section, capture the headlines, Dr. Stubblebine said. But other surveillance functions of the health department comprise a "silent service" that produces impressive statistics, he added.

The department protects the public by overseeing the safety of 32,000 different radiation sources. It reviews the performance of all adoption agencies in the state. Licenses are issued in such diverse facilities as day care homes and centers for more than 115,000 children, and hospitals with a total of 71,200 beds, and the department monitors the occurrence of all communicable diseases.

All mental hospitals are within the purview of the unified department. Also within its jurisdiction are the legal operation of methadone clinics, licensing of physical therapy facilities, approval of plans for new health facilities, and monitoring of insecticide usage and occupational hazards.

The number of fraud investigations of providers and welfare recipients has risen with reform of the state's Medi-Cal program, Dr. Stubblebine said. Last year almost 4,000 new cases were opened and, in July, 1973 the investigations section received 418 new complaints.

Questionable payments for medical services to ineligible beneficiaries were revealed by computer date, provider reports and information from local welfare departments. Complaints against physicians and other providers were made by Medi-Cal beneficiaries who felt they did not receive adequate services and by providers who believe their colleagues may have been violating program requirements.

Dr. Stubblebine said many complaints result from misinformation or inadvertent errors. A significant few, however, do bring criminal charges. Any errors or frauds are referred to the Recovery section for collection.

"Professional licensing boards are advised of information which might reflect on a provider's fitness," he said.

With centralization, the 75-person investigations section, formerly responsible only for Medi-Cal payment abuses, has been assigned violations of other state health-related laws and regulations.

Recently the unit was instrumental in securing an injunction which closed a substandard nursing home.

Halloween Safety

"Beggars' Night" in Monterey County will be observed on Wednesday, October 31, 1972 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. To avoid hazards and to prevent accidents, we suggest these safety rules.

FOR THE CHILDREN —

1. It's hard for you to see when you wear a mask. Use make-up instead.
2. Wait until you get home before you taste the "goodies." Let your parents see the treats before you eat them.
3. Wear bright costumes — they are easier for motorists to see. Reflective tape on costumes is a good idea.
4. If you carry a pumpkin, light it with a flashlight . . . not a candle.
5. Cross streets only at corners . . . never between parked cars.
6. Look in all directions before crossing the street.
7. Watch for—and obey—all traffic signals.
8. Wait on the curb—not in the street—before crossing.
9. Stay in your own neighborhood.
10. Be polite and courteous at all times.

FOR THE PARENTS —

1. Children should carry flashlights after dark—and use them.
2. Parents—or a responsible adult—should go along with the children.
3. Tell your children to bring the "treats" home before eating them—so that you can see what has been given them.
4. Don't let children travel in "gangs." A group of 3 or 4 is best—for safety—and for the benefit of householders.
5. Children should visit only those places where porch lights — or other welcoming lights—are turned on.
6. Only young children should participate. Children 12 or older should be discouraged from taking part in the observance.
7. Try to stay in your own neighborhoods. Householders are quite concerned about strange "gangs" coming from distant places.

FOR THE HOUSEHOLDER —

1. If you wish to welcome "beggars," turn on your porch lights from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Wednesday, October 31.
2. Offer only factory-wrapped or sealed treats to avoid problems or misunderstandings.

MOTORISTS! —

Please be especially watchful during 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. when children will be out.

Talcott Wants To Protect Desert

Congressman Burt L. Talcott (12th District, California) said in Washington, D.C. recently "The unique California desert must be saved. The aesthetic and scientific attributes of the California desert are threatened by mismanagement and over utilization."

Talcott remarked that the desert is one of California's last great natural unprotected resources, and its cultural, geological and archeological qualities are being eroded by mismanagement and over utilization. The 15.6 million acre finite and fragile desert is now rapidly growing as a recreational area for millions, a source of livelihood for many, and home for thousands.

Congressman Talcott has co-sponsored legislation (H.R. 9764) to establish a California Protection Plan, providing immediate and long-range protection, development and administration of these public lands. This legislation is unique in that it legislates "people-power" into the bureaucratic decision-making process by requiring public hearings on the formulation of rules and regulations which will affect the desert area.

The California Legislature adopted a Joint Resolution urging Congress to provide the Bureau of Land Management with adequate funding to enforce desert protection laws and to ensure proper management of the desert resources. Mr. Talcott believes that H.R. 9764 meets the Legislature's request.

Today's Army

NEWS

By

SSG R. Cardwell
ARMY RECRUITER

Hello everybody.

Recently TODAY'S ARMY announced a new pay increase for all enlisted men and women and officers. The new raise amounts to 6.2 percent of a soldier's salary. This brings the salary of a new enlistee to $326.10 per month, compared to the old figure of $307.20.

"After approximately four months of active duty the recruit will receive a promotion and his monthly salary will increase to $363.30." The new pay raise, coupled with TODAY'S ARMY, offers many benefits, and makes an Army career even more competitive with civilian life.

While serving in TODAY'S ARMY you can choose the Electronic Repairman Course. Qualified young men and women with an aptitude in electronics can find a rewarding career after completion of military duty or even if they remain on active duty. Individuals interested in becoming an electronic instrument repairman must have a reasonable grasp of electrical and electronic fundamentals.

"The responsibilities of an electronic instrument repairman include testing equipment such as ammeters, signal generators, tube and transistor testers, oscilloscopes and frequency meters and he or she must also know how to diagnose defective instruments and determine the extent of the repair work necessary and repair it.

TODAY'S ARMY provides an extensive training program for several weeks to prepare the enlistee for his or her new job. In addition, a written guarantee is made by TODAY'S ARMY to the enlistee to insure that he or she will receive the training they requested.

The training that is received in TODAY'S ARMY's electronics is equivalent to the training received in related civilian occupations such as Electrical Instrument Repairman and electrical Instrument Mechanic.

An individual that enlists in TODAY'S ARMY for electronic instrument repairman, or any of the other 300 jobs available should contact us at 431 Webster St., Monterey or call 372-4742/372-0553.

New Signs At Rest Areas

Symbol signs for the handicapped will be posted at selected rest areas on the State Highway System, it was announced recently by State Highway Engineer Robert J. Dattel. Dattel said that the 24-by-24 inch white and blue symbols will be installed beneath highway rest area signs at those areas with facilities for handicapped persons. These include all roadside rests constructed since 1969 plus some others that have been modified. The modifications include such things as extra wide parking slots, ramps and specially equipped toilet facilities.

Dattel said that the remaining rest areas are being modified for use by the handicapped as fast as available funds permit and will be posted with the symbol as soon as such work is completed.

He said that the decision to install the signs had resulted from a request from Jack L. Rugh of the Governor's Committee for Employment of the Handicapped who pointed out that as a result of the State's excellent rehabilitation program more and more handicapped people are traveling about on the highways.

Tax And Expenditure
Limitations
November 6, 1973
Special Statewide Election

WHEREAS, Proposition 1 would freeze expenditure limits in the State Constitution, thus eliminating statutory flexibility through such rigidity; and

WHEREAS, Proposition 1 does not contain the guarantees of the statutory 1972 Reagan-Moretti Tax Reform Program (SB 90) providing that local governments will not suffer financially from State mandated programs; and

As I See It

by Mel Vercoe

The big gamble paid off for the Israelis. They had two distinct choices when the Egyptians started their build-up. It was crystal clear that a major assault was about to begin. In 1967 the Israelis chose to nip the offensive in the bud, and in six days the whole thing was all over, with very little loss in either men or equipment for Israel.

However, this method of tackling the problem had two serious disadvantages, plus a couple minor ones. No. 1, the surprise Israeli attack left unresolved the question of how well the Israelis could do without the surprise element, and the Arab world, at least that part of it dedicated toward doing in the Israelis, was convinced that "next time" it would be different. No. 2, the Israelis did so well that the western democracies saw little if any need to furnish outside help to guard against future threats.

So, in 1973 rather than follow the 1967 plan of sur-

Cultural Program

welfarefamilies, DeBerry said.

Some of the girls have never been out of the City of Seaside, the principal stated. Besides culturally oriented trips to San Francisco and local spots, the girls are expected to respond to the positive "models" established by persons who will visit the school and teach classes to be offered under the program.

The project's goals are to help the girls do better academically by developing a better attitude toward schools and learning; to cut down the truancy and drop-out rates; to help the girls understand the value of education; to help them understand and accept other students from different ethnic and cultural backgrounds; to provide another avenue of community involvement in the schools and to increase student interest in school-oriented activities.

WHEREAS, Even under SB 90, as amended, local governments have not successfully recouped all State mandated costs - and cities cannot condone further mandated financial burdens being frozen in this constitution; and

WHEREAS, Fiscal analysts, including A. Alan Post, find that Proposition 1 will almost inevitably mean increases in local taxes; and

WHEREAS, Passage of Proposition 20 on the 1972 ballot has already cost this City over $125,000 on one project. Costs of this size and nature, if to preserve coastal amenities for all Californians, should be borne equitably by all cities of the State; and

WHEREAS, There can be no real home rule without fiscal home rule.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of Seaside that the members thereof declare their firm opposition to Proposition 1 and urge all citizens to vote against the measure on November 6, 1973.

prise attack, Israel chose to let the Arabs make their move, even at the risk of serious losses, so that the conflict would be a real slugfest that might forestall future Arab attacks and at the same time scare the dickens out of the United States because of the danger that Israel might actually be over-

If Israel is as sharp in strategic planning at it appears to be, their current offensive will not stop until they have virtually destroyed Cairo and Damascus, and they will expand and retain their buffer zone to include much of Syria. This could hold off the Arabs for maybe ten years instead of seven. It is obvious to all observers that future Arab attacks will come. It is just a matter of spacing them as far apart as possible.

Israel could have had a good thing going if they had decided to settle almost any place in the world except right smack in the hinge of the world's last major oil supply. Everybody wants the oil, and after the U.S. loses its influence abroad, what little there is left after our Vietnam crusade, the Russians will probably inherit, and the Arabs will wind up out in the cold like everyone else.

In the meantime, back at the farm, the Israeli risk-gamble paid off in our White House with Pres. Nixon pressing a very agreeable Congress to outright give the Israelis over two billion dollars in military aid. I presume that the contracts for all that equipment will be awarded to friends of Mr. Nixon, not friends of Mr. McGovern or Mr. Humphrey.

Study Shows Changes In CYA Wards

During the past 10 years, the average California Youth Authority ward has become 1.2 years older, 94 percent likely to be male and far more likely to be committed for crimes against persons.

These are among the highlights of a just-completed study comparing the characteristics of CYA wards over a 10-year period, from July 1, 1963, to June 30, 1973. The report was prepared by the Youth Authority's Division of Research and Development.

The report notes that the 10-year period has been almost entirely a time of declining overall CYA populations. The number of male wards in institutions peaked at 5,353 on June 30, 1965, and dropped steadily every year until 1972, when a low of 3,188 was recorded. By June 30 of 1973 the total climbed back slightly to 3,376.

The number of female wards dropped even more sharply—from 665 in 1965 to 205 on June 30 of this year. In contrast to the males, there was no increase in the number of female wards this year. Only 6 percent of the Department's institution population was female on June 30, compared with 10 percent in 1964.

A breakdown of committing offenses shows that 38.8 percent of the male wards in institutions had been involved in offenses against persons, compared to 21.3 percent in 1964. The proportion involved in offenses against property declined during the same period from 45.9 to 33.3 percent in 1964 to a peak of 15.6 percent in 1971. During the past two years, this proportion has declined to 8.2 percent.

Among female wards in institutions, the proportion involved in narcotics and drug offenses reached its highest level on June 30 of this year, with 15.6 percent, rising from a 1964 figure of 5.6 percent. The proportion of females involved in offenses against persons almost quadrupled during the 10-year period, from 8.4 percent of the total to 31.2 percent.

The average ages of wards of both sexes in both institutions and on parole has been increasing over the 10-year period -- from 17.9 to 19 for male wards in institutions and from 19.2 to 20.5 years for those on parole; and from 16.5 to 18.3 for female wards in institutions and from 18.1 to 19.6 for those on parole.

There has been a change in ethnic proportions of CYA wards in institutions over the 10-year period. Among males, the proportion of Whites declined from 51.9 to 40.1 percent; while Mexican-Americans increased from 19.8 to 22 percent, and Blacks from 26.6 to 35.5 percent.

SETO Endorses Proposition 1

The Board of Directors of the Secondary and Elementary Teachers Organization of Los Angeles (SETO) has endorsed Proposition 1 -- the Revenue Control and Tax Reduction Initiative on the November 6 ballot.

"...Proposition 1 represents a first step toward a return to responsible fiscal policy in government," the directors concurred.

The endorsement action came at a meeting of the directors in Los Angeles October 10. President of the organization is Tom McCullough.

"...The trend over a considerable period of time at all levels of government has been toward collectivism, a social ailment which can best be described as 'don't do it yourself, let government do it for you,'" the directors said in a statement.

"This trust in big government, or big politics," has sapped the nation of the strong pride that the individual American once held in wanting to provide for most of his own needs..." the directors' statement continued.

The directors cited "an almost malignant political environment in which it has become impossible for legislators and administrators to restrain themselves in their frenetic drive to appeal to every special interest group imaginable. Predictably, inefficiency, corruption, and graft have become commonplace in government, at a great cost to all Americans."

To Form American Platoon

Drawing on the tradition of regional military units and the success of recent hometown area platoons in New Hampshire, Michigan, Massachusetts and Texas, the U.S. Army has announced plans to form a national platoon. Made up of two men from each state plus Puerto Rico and Guam, it will be called the American Infantry Platoon.

To be eligible for selection, applicants must be high school graduates or have equivalent diplomas, be without previous military service and meet the platoon's mental, physical and moral qualifications. Determination of the platoon's membership will be made by the recruiting districts commanders.

Besides being part of an innovative and prestigious unit, platoon members will receive $307 a month starting pay less normal deductions, housing, meals, medical care, and other Army benefits. Also available, if the requirements are met, is a $2,500 cash enlistment bonus paid upon successful completion of basic and advanced individual training.

Welcoming ceremonies are scheduled at Ft. Ord on Veteran's Day, October 22. The 104-man platoon will then attend basic training at Ft. Ord.
